Swiss Military by Chrono SMA34092 DIVER 1000 Special Edition

Built to withstand water-pressure up to an incredible depth of 1000M, the SMA34092 DIVER 1000 is made to handle anything that comes at it not only in the deep blue but also on the surface. The ultra-robust construction of this deep-sea dive watch is based on to the combination of a strong and durable stainless steel case, a ceramic bezel and a 4.5mm thick sapphire crystal. Thanks to the light green SuperLuminova coated hands and hour markers there will never be a problem to read time under water or in low light situations. What's more, the minute hand and dot on the rotating bezel are coated in light blue SuperLuminova for excellent visibility and control over your diving time. The built-in helium release valve guarantees the perfect working of this timekeeper during saturation diving. However, the most striking feature of this outstanding dive watch is the big screw down crown. Thanks to its super grippable design you will always to be sure to have properly sealed the crown before plunging below the waves.

The SMA34092 comes in various colour combinations as well as the option for metal bracelet or rubber strap. The stainless steel strap features a diver extension and safety clasp. Both the metal bracelet and the rubber strap can be interchanged with each other for maximum adaptation to your daily needs.
